

PRICE FIVE CENTS

INDIANAPOLIS, SUNDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 4, 1891—SIXTEEN PAGES.

INDIANAPOLIS, SUNDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 4, 1891—SIXTEEN PAGES.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Cloudy weather; rain and cooler temperature in the afternoon.

OUR BUSINESS

Has grown to such proportions at

THE WHOLE

That we are warranted in carrying a stock greatly in excess of anything hitherto attempted in this market. In detail, and in general, our exhibit is complete and comprehensive beyond the possibility of description. Our methods are such as meet general approval, and inspire that confidence so essential to the attainment of large results, and with our immense stock and unequalled facilities insuring the closest prices consistent with the transaction of legitimate business, it is not surprising that so many are learning that there is no occasion for looking outside of our establishment.

We can best illustrate this claim by saying that if you were to be in need of an overcoat, and were to take the time to look through our entire exhibit, we could show you fully two hundred different lines of Winter Overcoats, and this would not include the fall weights, of which we would show you one hundred more. This represents several thousand overcoats. If you were to take the time to look through our Children's Department we would show you more than three hundred styles and patterns in short-pant suitings alone, more, in fact, than you could inspect in a day's time. What is true of our Overcoat Department and Children's Department is true of all other departments.

FOR CLOTHING, FURNISHINGS OR HATS

It will be to your interest to visit

THE WHOLE

1,000 REWARD

If our Prices are not the Lowest for

DIAMONDS, WATCHES,
STERLING SILVER
CHINA AND PLATED WARE

OUR GOODS ARE THE BEST IN THE MARKET.

Nickel Alarm Clock

— $15 —
Gents' Gold-Filled Stem-Wind Watch

28 East Washington St.

Exactly Opposite New York Store.

ROBBED OF THEIR SAVINGS

Hundreds of Poor People Made Poorer by a Thieving Treasurer and Assistant.

Sum of $463,000 Stolen from the Ulster County (N. Y.) Savings Institution—Officers De-nounced for a Misleading Report.

Only $70 Left in the Chrisman Bank Vault by the Absconding Standiford.

Their Liabilities Now Placed at Over $200,000—Reward of $1,000 for Their Capture—Banker Dill Advised to Stay in Jail.

SAVINGS BANK WRECKED.

Nearly Half a Million Stolen from an Institution at Kingston, N. Y. KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The Ulster County Savings Institution has closed its doors and is in charge of Bank Superintendent Charles M. Preston. Expert examiners have been at work since Tuesday, and have found already that the enormous sum of $463,000 has been stolen by Treasurer Ostrander and Matthew T. Trumbour, assistant treasurer, and it is feared the stealings will reach over that amount. At midnight Superintendent Preston swore to a complaint charging Trumbour with perjury in swearing to false statements contained in the July report of the bank to the banking department, and Trumbour was arrested at his house by Chief of Police Hood. He had his clothes all packed up and was preparing to flee from town. He was locked up in jail. Ostrander was arrested about two weeks ago for embezzling $75,000, and was under bonds for $30,000, and his bondsman last night turned him over to Sheriff Dill, and he was also locked up in jail. When Ostrander was arrested there was a great run on the bank for three days, but the other banks came to the rescue of the Ulster County Savings Institution, and the trustees made a statement, showing that there was a surplus of $247,000. The statement, being signed by such well-known men as Judge Alton B. Parker, Gen. George H. Sharpe, Judge William S. Konyan, Postmaster Noah Wolven, John W. Searing, of the Kingston, Leader, and other reputable citizens, had a reassuring effect and the depositors who drew out their money brought it back. The system adopted by Ostrander and Matthew Trumbour, the latter being fully cognizant of the steal and assisting in concealing it for the purpose of swindling the depositors and hiding the theft, which grew by degrees, was most ingenious, and for twenty years has baffled the eyes of expert examiners in the employ of the State. In carrying out deceit and perjury have been frequently and effectively employed.

The statement which was given out on Sept. 19, after thanking the other banks for the assistance rendered, said to the depositors: "We know that we cannot deceive you. Our assets are not open to your inspection. We have to-night, at this close of business, resources, including bonds, mortgages, real estate, loans on collateral and cash, to the amount of $213,495.02. There is due depositors $1,287,721.26, leaving a surplus of $2,741,221.26. Every dollar by which our liabilities have been diminished has been paid from our own funds, without borrowing a cent. We represent pass-books, paid and accrued advantages to the bank in interest from which it is now released. If they are sold at a price in the country to deposit money at moderate rates are reduced to interest. We are indebted to a good part of our loss and we hope to restore the confidence in the institution by restoring the confidence in the industrial interests of the country, without imperiling our depositors, which, so far, has never been the case."

It is impossible to tell or even conjecture the effect that the closing of the bank will have on the people of Ulster county. The majority of the depositors are poor people, many of the old men and women dependent on the interest of the few thousands of dollars they had in the bank, and such an event, with the loss of their savings, can be seen everywhere about the city, they fearing the loss of their savings. The feeling against the trustees who signed the statement is bitter in the extreme, and Parkers, Sharpe and others are characterized as thieves for making the statement. The feeling is so bitter that it is now solvent when they should have known its condition. That they were guilty of criminal negligence there is no doubt. The first Vice-president, N. E. Broadhead, who was in executive charge of the bank, also came in for his share of censure in signing the statement and in allowing the money to be deposited there. Broadhead was one of the most popular young men in the county, being elected county clerk, and was a fall, which position he now holds, and every one in the county had the most implicit faith in his trustworthiness. His name is now shattered by the unfortunate turn in the affairs of the bank.

The people had great confidence in the institution, and the depositors, from $546,874.14, in 1877, ran up to $2,196,070.33, in 1891. No matter what the state of the money market might be, it was always conceded by everyone that the Ulster County Savings Institution was sound. It was a bank of the people, and the trustees mentioned in their statement were by-the-by in New York by Ostrander and Trumbour. Another method mentioned in the statement was that many were entered on the banks registered for only half and one-third the amount received, while the entries in depositors' books were for the full amount, the difference being taken by the thieves.

The streets of Kingston are filled with people, and depositors are arriving on every train and by all manner of device. Men and women wander aimlessly about, and occasionally some of the excited farmers threaten to break in to the bank building to get their money, while others suggest that the money might be burned to hang Ostrander and Trumbour. Business is utterly suspended and nothing else is talked about. The statement of the trustees is a number of years ago, and it was a quarter of a million dollars. A man named McAndrews, who has $75,000 on deposit, developed symptoms of insanity, and it is feared that it will be necessary to take him to an asylum. The city officials are threatened to burn the jail where Ostrander and Trumbour are confined would be broken down and the farmers never succeeded in catching the thieves, who were known to be colored men, until Thursday, when Webb Mitchell, a Thoroughbred negro, was arrested after disposing of a herd of yearlings. At the jailer's Mitchell confessed that he was one of the five who had been stealing the cattle. The farmers are greatly incensed over the matter, and will offer rewards for the capture of the other men.

Thoroughbred Cattle Chief Confesses.

FRANKFORD, Ind., Oct. 3.—A gang of cattle-thieves have been working in the vicinity of Thoroughbred, Boone county, and much stock has been driven away and sold. The farmers never succeeded in catching the thieves, who were known to be colored men, until Thursday, when Webb Mitchell, a Thoroughbred negro, was arrested after disposing of a herd of yearlings. At the jailer's Mitchell confessed that he was one of the five who had been stealing the cattle. The farmers are greatly incensed over the matter, and will offer rewards for the capture of the other men.

Stricken with Paralysis.

CASBY, Ill., Oct. 3.—Mrs. John Dunn, the aged mother of J. W. Dunn, of the firm of Doshbaugh & Dunn, was stricken with paralysis yesterday, and died at an early hour this morning.

The Sunday Journal, $2 Per Annum

the public. Our statement, therefore, of Sept. 19, 91, made no mention of the late residence of the dead soldier in the Rue Montevy. A large crowd was expected, and the local authorities had taken precautions to provide an imposing police force for this emergency, but as the hour for starting the procession drew near it was seen that the number of policemen present was far from sufficient for the purpose of maintaining order. Reinforcements were sent for, but the extra force soon arrived, the police, as the men were brought out of the hotel, proved entirely unequal to keeping the crushing, excited throngs in anything like decent order. Consequently the sergeants de ville had to call upon the gen-darmes, mounted and on foot, to assist them in controlling the mobs. The gen-darmes did so and were compelled to make a number of arrests before order could be restored.

The coffin of the unfortunate General was covered with hundreds of floral wreaths tied with tri-colored ribbons, mostly sent from France by his political admirers, and in addition there were a number of tri-colored flags festooned about and draped around the caisson containing the remains of the once popular idol of a large section of the French people.

Yast crowds of persons congregated along the route traversed by the cortege. A decorous silence was observed by the throngs as the hearse passed on its way to the last resting place, and most of the persons in the crowd uncovered their heads. At the entrance to the cemetery the advance guard of the procession, as it were, lay by the actions of a mob which had gathered at that place and were roughly crowding aside the police, seeking admittance to the grave-yard, a witness to the last scenes. The gen-darmes who were detailed for duty, after considerable exertion succeeded in clearing the passage, and the grave was at length reached. The coffin was then taken from the hearse and lowered into the grave. There were no religious services whatever, and no speeches were made. The only ceremony, if ceremony it may be called, was performed by M. Peronelle, the mayor, who placed a tri-colored flag, put it to his lips and placed it on the coffin, at the same time exclaiming: "Farewell, my friend." The procession only consisted of a few persons, and the cortege was not worthy of note in connection with the internment. When the earth had been thrown on the grave the soda above the grave arranged by the cemetery employes, the friends of the dead General returned to their homes.

General Boulanger's wife is not mentioned in his will, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and bids his children respect his last wishes. He bequeaths the bulk of his property to his friend Barbier, and invites other friends each to select a work of art from his residence as a souvenir. Each servant employed by the testator is to receive a direct sum of money. General Boulanger's will also contains the following provisions: "It is my formal wish to be buried in the second compartment of the Bonnevain tomb, and the testator repeats his assertion that his suicide would be on account of the loss of his mistress. He appoints his niece, Mlle. Germaine, legatee, and